

Hogwarts fans appear

People lined up Thursday all down the block in front of the Sherman Theater to attend the midnight opening show of Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows Part 2. Theater owner Dave Branda said about 250 people were in the audience for the opening show. The costume contest sponsored by Dr. Patrick Gleason brought some great costumes. Third place went to Makayla Kennedy, and then the judges decided to let the audience decide the top two places. Brooke Lockhart, who dressed as Luna, had a great costume and handed the judges sheets of paper asking for help to find things Luna had lost at Hogwarts, was second (bottom left). The audience chose Jessica Lake (top left) and her costume as the top winner. The movie will be in Goodland for about 10 more days, and Branda hopes it continues to draw good crowds.
