Three children were taken to the hospital Sunday night after a woman fled from police and crashed her car into a fence at U.S. 24 and Cherry Avenue.

Kansas Highway Patrol Public Resource Officer Todd Hileman said Shanna Rae Smith, 26, of Colby, was involved in a domestic dispute in the Walmart parking lot at 9:15 p.m. Sunday. Goodland Police and Highway Patrol troopers arrived as she was leaving in a white 2002 Chevrolet Malibu. She turned north on K-27. When Trooper Perry Frey attempted to stop her, she fled, turning east on U.S. 24 and striking a police car. Hileman said there was minor damage to the police car.

Smith continued east on U.S. 24 with troopers in pursuit. Hileman said troopers clocked her at 95 mph in a 40 mph zone. Eyewitnesses reported she was driving erratically, nearly striking vehicles going the opposite direction. She tried to turn north onto Cherry Avenue but turned too widely, driving up over the curb and crashing into a fence by the flag pole on the northeast corner of the intersection.

The crash smashed in the front of the car, disabling it. Smith was taken into custody. Hileman said at that time it was discovered there were three small children in the car. An

4-H clubs to hold open house

All youth of the community from seven to 19 and their parents are invited to a 4-H Open house from 2 to 3 p.m. on Sunday at the 4-H building at the Sherman County Fairgrounds.

This will give the youth and their parents a chance to talk to community club leaders and project leaders. They will be there to answer any questions you might have and to explain the 4-H program to you.

There are four 4-H clubs in the county. Country Clover 4-H Club meets the fourth Monday of the month at the 4-H building and its leaders are Connie Bergquist and Diane Zelfer. Prairie Dale 4-H Club meets the second Sunday of the month at the 4-H building and its leaders are Laura McClung and Julie Crow. Ruleton Eager Beaver meet the second Sunday of the month at the 4-H building and its leaders are Charlene Mangus and Karen Hooker. Sunflower 4-H club meets the third Monday of the month at Edwar's Hall and its leader is Cris Wilson.

4-H is one of the world's largest

Goodland welcomes new doctor

By Christina Beringer

colby.society@nwkansas.com
Vision Source of Goodland has a new optometrist on staff. Dr. Jordan Hagler, a May 2011 graduate from the Oklahoma College of Optometry at Northeastern State University in Tahlequah, began seeing patients at the beginning of August.

Dr. Hagler, who spends half of his time in Goodland and half at the Vision Source office in Colby, said he is happy to be back in northwestern Kansas, near his family and friends, and enjoying all of the things that go along with living here.

"I love it here because I am originally from northwest Kansas," he said. "I grew up on a farm south of Atwood, where I enjoyed farming with my dad and brother until I left for school..."

"Through my years in school, I had the opportunity to travel the country and see many amazing places, but nothing beats the big open skies."

"We are thrilled to have Jordan with us," said Dr. Jeff Morrison, a co-owner and partner. "We watched him grow up as a patient of ours; he comes from a great farming family, is smart and well-mannered and has excellent staying power."

"It's been cool seeing Jordan progress as he began thinking he wanted to go into optometry and then seeing him actually succeed. We were lucky enough to have him shadow with us whenever he could in high school and college, and when we heard he got accepted into residency, we started planting the seed early. By the time he was done, we had him swallowed up."

School celebrates Homecoming
