out the price for that work, which is about $40,000. Commissioner Jenifer Sanderson said that although she wanted to be a team player, she felt the city's contribution of the building itself was enough. Commissioner Bill Finley said he also thought that work should be paid for by the county.

A special city commission meeting was scheduled for 7:30 a.m. today to further discuss the contract after Fairbanks and Abbey had had a chance to work out the outstanding issues.

In other business, the commission:

- Held a public hearing on changing the solid waste removal contract. No members of the public made any comments. Gerber said this was mostly a formality, and is a step in the process toward the city getting a new contractor or a new agreement with the existing contractor for trash removal.

The commission approved a resolution to move forward with the process. Gerber said there will be another public hearing on Feb. 18.

• Gave the Employee of the Quarter award to Kenton Keith. Gerber said Keith had put in a lot of work on sheet metal at the power plant. He said that even though he wasn't nominated for it, Keith had been a great help with the downtown gas leak.

• Approved a demolition bid for the west building at 811 E. U.S. 24 from B&K Pumping for $24,500. The vote was 4-1 with Farris voted no.

• Gave an extension to the owner of 504 E. Seventh Street to allow for more improvements to structure.

• Heard from John Topliff about building a new hangar at the airport. Topliff said he would like to lease one of the open lots. Garcia said the commission would be in favor, so he should work out an agreement with the city staff so it could be brought before the commission at a future meeting.

Holiday season begins

The leaves are falling and so is the mercury, which means its time for the holiday season. City employees took the opportunity to hang up wreaths on the street lights last week during a few days of warmer temperatures.
