Storm cleanup efforts winding down

By Kevin Bottrell

kbottrell@nwkansas.com

After a week of extended hours to help people get rid of tree branches and other storm debris, the Sherman County Landfill has returned to its regular hours.

There were plenty of branches, large and small, to take to the landfill after three weeks of high winds, thunderstorms and hail.

Regular landfill hours — which were altered by the commissioners in May — are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday. It is closed Sunday. The commissioners had extended the hours during the week of June 9.

The Sherman County Commissioners discussed the landfill at their meeting Tuesday, wanting to know how the extra hours two weeks ago worked out and whether more extra hours would be needed.

The commissioners called supervisor Mark Felzien, who said that many people took advantage of the extra hours, and some people even continued to come after the hours had been put back to normal. Landfill personnel were on hand installing the new baler, and were able to help.

Felzien said he thought most people were caught up with the branches brought down by recent storms, and added that the city is doing much of the hauling. He recommended that the landfill remain at its normal hours.

In other business, the commissioners:

- Met with Roberta Pianalto about an upcoming event. Roberta said she is part of an effort by the Western Child Advocacy Center, which asked 100 women to raise $1,000 each for the organization. She said she wants to do a dance at the Gulick Park tennis courts on July 3, but she was told by the city that part of the park is actually county property and is only maintained by the city, so she came to the commissioners for approval.

Sheriff Burton Pianalto said the Western Child Advocacy Center is an invaluable tool. The organization helps conduct forensic in-

Water meeting set for Tuesday

There will be an informational meeting and discussion for those using or interested in the water supply of the South Fork Republican River at 8 a.m. (Mountain Time) Tuesday at the Community High School Cafeteria, 100 College St in St. Francis.

State water officials need to understand the interests and concerns of local water users in the face of depleted river flows and the draining of Bonny Reservoir. "KDA needs to hear from water users in the area," said Kansas Secretary of Agriculture Jackie McClaskey. Water officials will provide an update on Republican River Compact issues.

For information contact Chris Beightel, (785) 608-6542 or chris.beightel@kda.ks.gov.

Accidents around area claim one life

Traffic accidents in Northwest Kansas claimed the life of a Winona man Wednesday as he drove across a set of railroad tracks, and sent a Colorado woman to the hospital after she rear-ended a car at a construction zone.

Adam Meska, 29, crossed the tracks at Front Street and U.S. 40 in Page City at 4:40 p.m., according to the Kansas Highway Patrol. He headed south, and an eastbound train struck the 2009 Dodge Ram he was driving, apparently killing Meska at the scene, since he was not taken to a hospital. James Hunt, Rexford, the engineer of the train, was unhurt.

Ashley Abel, 18, Hudson, was driving south on K-25, behind a 2013 Ford Explorer, the patrol reported. At 5:35 p.m. both cars came to a construction zone just north of the Rawlins County line, and Hudson hit the Explorer when it stopped for a construction worker.

She was taken to Rawlins County Hospital. Her passenger, James Kehl, 17, Bird City was okay, as was the driver of the Explorer, Linde Hagler, 30 and her passengers, Emma and Bently Hagler, ages five and two. All five people were wearing seat belts.

County to auction delinquent properties

The Sherman County Tax Sale is coming up at 10 a.m. Monday in the courtroom at the County Courthouse.

Properties that have delinquent taxes for three years are to be auctioned to the highest bidder. Winning bidders must pay for the property at the auction.

Signs are up around the county on property that will be going up for auction, and a notice has been published in the May 16, 23 and 30 editions of the Goodland Star-News that details each property.

State statutes forbid people from bidding on a property if they are the "owner of record, his or her heirs, devisees, executors, administrators or assigns." People are also prohibited from bidding if they have delinquent taxes on another property.

Statutes also do not allow bidding by "parent, grandparent, child, grandchild, spouse, sibling, trustee or trust beneficiary who held an interest in a tract as owner or holder of the record title."

The Sherman County Sheriff's Office — which conducts the auction — also has several impounded vehicles it will be auctioning off at the same time Monday. The list may include a 1995 Ford Ranger, a 2001 Honda mini-van, a 1999 Oldsmobile Intrigue, a 2012 Dodge Caravan and a 1996 Mitsubishi Eclipse. Owners had the chance to claim the impound vehicles within 10 days of the legal notice.

Ongoing work

Demolition continues on the interior of Goodland High School. The interior of the building is being gutted in preparation for the remodeling, which will include larger classrooms and different configurations for areas like the cafeteria and library.

Students show off paintings at Hansen

The Dane G. Hansen Memorial Museum in Logan is offering the “Local Joy of Painting Artists Exhibit” from Friday, July 18, through Sunday Aug. 17.

Students from the Joy of Painting Workshops held at the Hansen Museum for the past decade look forward to showing off their artistic talents in the Hansen Museum Gallery.

Although Bob Ross died in 1995, his “Joy of Painting” still lives on in workshops across the U.S. Although not considered fine art, these classes encourage people to paint, to laugh, to feel a sense of accomplishment, to believe in themselves and to realize “you can do it.”

Each student takes an individual approach to the painting they are producing, which allows for a tremendous array of personalities in the exhibit as a whole. Each piece speaks for itself in representing the world of art.

The museum is open from 8. to 11 a.m. and noon to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday and until 4 p.m. Saturday. Sunday and holiday hours are noon to 4 p.m. All times are Mountain Time. It is handicapped accessible and admission is free.

For information about this and other exhibits, contact Nova Bates at (785) 689-4846 or go to www.hansenmuseum.org.

Upland habitat tours, workshops to be held

Pheasants Forever and Quail Forever employees and chapters are pleased to announce their summer slate of upland habitat tours and workshops. Currently there are 15 workshops or tours planned around the state. These events will be hosted by Pheasants Forever Farm Bill Wildlife Biologists with the assistance of local area partners and statewide partners — Kansas Department of Wildlife, Parks, and Tourism and the USDA-Natural Resources Conservation Service.

With events scheduled from May-July, there will be plenty of time for readers to pick sessions they would like to attend and, though all will relate to how habitat can be managed to benefit game birds and why it is necessary, there will be topics tailored to a wide range of conservation and landowner interests. With sessions covering topics ranging from "Landscaping for Pollinators" (geared toward backyard conservationists and youth educators) to a cover crop tour and roundtable discussion with Kansas farmers, we're sure that everyone can find a worthwhile workshop or series to attend. All the workshops are free and open to public, but some will require an RSVP because of space limitations or dinners being provided. Most of them will be half a day or shorter to accommodate our attendees' busy summer schedules. Be on the lookout for more details locally, or for more information, check our website (www.kansaspfqf.com) or contact Senior Farm Bill Biologist, Zac Eddy, at (620) 338-7132 or zeddy@pheasantsforever.org. Be sure to inform Zac or the local hosts if you need any accommodations.

Pheasants Forever is dedicated to the conservation of pheasants, quail, and other wildlife through habitat improvements, public awareness, education, and land management policies and programs. There are more than 600 Pheasants Forever chapters across the U.S. and Canada, accounting for over 130,000 current members, and more than 100 Quail Forever chapters in the U.S. accounting for over 8,000 members.

Pheasants Forever and Quail Forever members are a diversified group of hunters, non-hunters, farmers, ranchers, landowners, conservation enthusiasts and wildlife officials. The organization is for those who want to make a difference for wildlife by creating habitat, restoring wetlands and protecting prairies.

Pheasants Forever Farm Bill Wildlife Biologists are specialized consultants in conservation programs and habitat planning. The purpose of Farm Bill wildlife biologists is to assist landowners in designing, developing and funding habitat improvements on private lands. Farm Bill biologists possess the knowledge of federal, state and local programs to assist landowners in finding the right program to meet their personal habitat and land use goals. Through a unique partnership, Farm Bill biologists are located in local USDA service centers in priority habitat areas throughout the pheasant range.

Colby farm, food summit to be held on Wednesday

The Kansas Rural Center invites Kansans interested in growing policy and advocacy support for farms, food, and communities to attend a Farm-to-Fork Summit from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. (Mountain Time) Wednesday at the Colby Community Building basement. The public is welcome to attend.

The summit, along with one a day earlier in Concordia, finishes up a four-part series of meetings across the state that seek to provide information and acquire feedback on policies that could help shape the future for increased healthy food production and access in Kansas. The first summit, held in Greensburg, focused on community food and water policy while the second, held in Iola, focused on food policy council development.

To attend, register at kansasruralcenter.org/north-ks-farm-to-fork-summits.

The full-day summit in Colby will provide the opportunity for participants to network with others who share similar interests or concerns for their farms and communities, learn about local and state policy and advocacy for community food and health, and share and take back ideas to their own communities.

Each day will be focused on understanding specific policies that will help our state's farmers help make healthful foods, especially fruits and vegetables, the easy, accessible, affordable choice for all Kansans. Key themes include cooperative, farmers market and value-added processing development and their effect on local farm and economic development as well as the health of Kansans.

A panel of farmers, health professionals, Extension, and other community experts will set the stage for dialogue from participants about challenges in their specific regions.

Afternoon roundtables will encourage discussion and feedback around specific policy levers. This information will be used to help develop policy priorities that will be included in a Statewide Farm and Food Assessment and Policy Recommendations publication that will be completed later this year.

Registration is $15 per person, which includes lunch.

These summits are part of the Kansas Rural Center's "Community Food Solutions for a Healthier Kansas" initiative that will seek to advance the farm-to-fork food system across the state during the next three years. The assessment and recommendations will be used to help identify specific barriers, opportunities and policies needed.

For information about the Kansas Rural Center go to www.kansasruralcenter.org.

Bicycle riding tips

The Goodland Elks Lodge hosted their annual Bicycle Roundup in cooperation with the Goodland Police Department on Wednesday, June 11. A total of 14 boys and girls (ages six to 11) attended. Police officers registered the bicycles, had a safety class and supervised the riders as they rode through the chalked parking lot "streets" to use their hand signals. Each participant received a prize and two won a new bicycle.

July begins process for hiring new troopers

The Kansas Highway Patrol is going to be hiring a new class of recruit troopers, who will begin their careers with the Patrol next July. This will be the 55th recruit class, and marks the Patrol's effort to increase manpower on the highways in Kansas, as well as provide assistance to some local agencies whom rely on the Patrol's partnership.

"The Kansas Highway Patrol is built on history and a sense of tradition that has carried on from one generation to the next. We are looking for the next generation of men and women who want to make a difference," said Lieutenant Amy Ayers, KHP Recruiter. "We want to help you become our next Kansas State Trooper. If you are interested or have any questions, we'd love to talk to you. Give us a call 7(85) 296-8367 or email KSstatetrooper@khp.ks.gov."

Applications are being accepted now through Monday, Dec. 1.

Applicants will go through an extensive hiring process, which will include a written examination, physical agility test, polygraph exam, background investigation, interview, physical examination, and psychiatric test. Upon successful completion of these steps, final offers of employment will be made. The recruits will report to the Training Academy in July 2015 to begin 23 weeks of training.

With retirements, promotions and short-staffing in many areas of the state, these new troopers will come at a welcome time. The Patrol prides itself in the assistance we offer to local agencies. Hiring additional troopers will not only enhance our ability to assist other agencies, but provide much needed law enforcement coverage throughout the state that Kansas residents and travelers through our state have come to rely on.

TO APPLY for KHP Class #55:

Please promptly submit a tax clearance certificate by accessing the Dept. of Revenue website www.ksrevenue.org/taxclearance.html, along with an Employment Application at admin.ks.gov/services/state-employment-center. This application site can also be accessed from the www.kansashighwaypatrol.org/careerop/co\_trooper.html website: click on Career Opportunities, Current Openings, Apply Online. If you mail hard copy application and tax clearance materials, they must be post marked no later than Dec. 1 and addressed to: Janice Kelly, c/o KHP Recruiting, 122 SW Seventh St., Topeka, Kan., 66603. ADA/EOE/VPE. If you have further questions on the hiring process or what the Trooper position entails, please contact the Kansas Highway Patrol at (785) 296-8367.

State races show some similarities

Kansas and Virginia?

Is there any relationship between the coastal state where voters in the Republican primary last week rose up to smite their party's No. 2 leader in the House of Representatives, and the plains state where a virtually unknown Leawood radiologist is running against a venerable three-term incumbent U.S. senator?

Only time will tell, but the halls of the Statehouse echoed the talk last week, as reported by the Associated Press, after House Majority Leader Eric Cantor lost a Republican primary to retain his seat in Congress.

Supporters of Kansas "tea party" candidate Milton Wolf were cheered by the victory in Virginia of a largely unknown, poorly financed challenger against a top Republican leader. Roberts' backers say things are different here, however.

In Washington, Rep. Cantor was widely seen as the next speaker of the House, with Rep. John Boehner of Ohio expected to step down next year. Now, he'll likely be out of a job – and Mr. Boehner may be stuck with his.

Opponents labeled Mr. Cantor as a Washington insider who'd grown out of touch with his nearby district. His support for a compromise on immigration reform, though widely seen as necessary for the party, may have cost him at home.

Sen. Roberts' campaign says that's not him. After 18 years in the Senate and 16 before that in the House, representing the 1st District of western Kansas, they say he hasn't forgotten who sent him to Washington. He's opposed any "amnesty" for illegal immigrants, played to his conservative base and has support from groups such as the Kansas State Rifle Association and Right to Life.

He has solid backing from farm groups after years of helping craft the "Farm Bill" and serving as chair of the House Agriculture Committee and, later, the Senate Intelligence Oversight Committee.

Dr. Wolf has been running since October, however. He attacks Sen. Roberts for owning a home in Virginia while listing a rented room in Dodge City as his residence for voting purposes. The challenger claims Roberts really lives in the Washington area and seldom comes "home." In fact, he's worked in Washington since 1967, when he became an aide to Sen. Frank Carlson, later serving Rep. Keith Sebelius of Norton.

A solid record, yes, but there are many who may vote for Mr. Wolf. We've heard more than one person say on the streets of western Kansas that Mr. Roberts has been there "long enough." His visits out here have not been that frequent.

If money means anything, Sen. Roberts should have a big edge. The AP reported he has $2.25 million to spend compared to $278,000 for Dr. Wolf. Money meant little in Virginia, but observers point out that only 65,000 people voted in that race and five times as many are expected in Kansas, maybe more, making it harder for a determined minority to score a coup.

The senator says he's never taken his race for granted. "In the first place, I'm not Cantor," he told the Associated Press. "This is not going to happen in Kansas."

In fact, he says he's pumped by the prospect of Republicans taking back control of the Senate.

The night of Aug. 5, we expect the veteran will come out on top, in line for a committee chairmanship, but he'll get a scare. However, at this point, anything's possible. — Steve Haynes

Reaching our potential

If today's crop of young farmers and ranchers plan to play a part in the future of agriculture, they must position themselves where this industry will be – not where it is.

There are four key considerations young farm and ranch couples must take to heart if they are to reach their full potential. These include: be willing to change; be part of something bigger than yourself; accept the future; and give up your own independence.

Addressing change is something young farmers and ranchers are familiar with. They have no trouble recognizing change – it's doing something about it that is so difficult.

Everyone tends to give change a chance but when difficulty pops up all of us tend to revert to our old ways of doing things. Change requires new thinking.

Secondly, we as humans, especially young farmers and ranchers must strive toward something greater than self-actualization to fulfill our own unique potential.

This means challenging ourselves with something bigger than we are. To accomplish this an issue about what we're doing on the family farm. It's not about us, it's about the customers we serve.

The fourth block on which to build a future in agriculture includes giving up independence. Americans revere their independence. The United States was born out of independence.

However, unless farmers and ranchers move to interdependence they will not survive.

We can't be focused on a single issue. We must look at the bigger picture and understand that we're all in this together.

A farmer and rancher cannot remain independent and farm in the future. Producers must be willing to dedicate themselves to a common purpose and impact the world with the help of others.

While these four building blocks may sound simple, implementing them is extremely difficult. Many will fail and start over. Some will not make it. For others it will remain a life-long commitment. The important thing is to begin,

Mountains of stuff

Yipes! We have stuff everywhere in this house!

The closets are stuffed. The drawers are crammed. Chairs and tables are piled high with books, magazine and newspapers. Spare beds hold suitcases and the debris of travel.

I was getting ready to go to a seminar on hoarding with my sister Marie and, after looking around the house, I was afraid I would find out that Steve and I suffered from this medical condition.

I shouldn't have worried. While we are terrible pack rats and find it hard to discard anything we haven't read and quite a bit that we have, we aren't in any danger of becoming hoarders.

Believe it or not, this really is a medical condition.

Marie is a mental-health nurse, and from time to time we get together for continuing-education seminars that will benefit both her nurses' license and my pharmacy license.

go right back to work filling their homes, apartments, yards and garages with different stuff.

Valuable items may be mixed in with the junk: Money and stock certificates in piles of old magazines, cereal boxes and cast-off clothing. Antiques piled with bottle caps, bubble-gum wrappers and pieces of broken dishes.

To the hoarder, it's all important. It all needs to be saved.

Mostly, the presenter said, these people have to be taught to let go a little at a time. It's a long, hard process.

When I got home, I looked around. We may not be hoarders, but we could sure use some judicious culling of our "stuff."

Now if I can just find that magazine article on organizing your stuff. I know it's in one of these piles. Somewhere. On the table, the bed, the floor or the chair, I think.

On second thought, maybe I need my sister to come over and talk me into giving up just a little of my hoard.

The two sides of science

I was unhappy. The new state-of-the-art molecular biology lab building had just opened last year at one of China's premier universities. I attended one of the first presentations in that immaculate room. There was just one new high definition projector beaming the speaker's programmed slides on a huge white screen – and nothing more. No black board with chalk. No white board with markers. Not even an "elmo" platform that projects your handwriting on the screen. And that was the problem.

"So you don't want Nobel Prizes?" I asked the chair, after the students were gone and we were walking down the hall. That was definitely impolite, even if my Chinese hosts are very courteous toward guests.

"The PowerPoint is fine for reviewing past science, but how are you going to engage students in questioning and pursuing future avenues of research? No one gets Nobels for knowing what is already in textbooks. You get Nobels for asking new questions and finding new techniques, and that takes brainstorming – on the board," I continued.

That graduate research building had just opened and it only had one lecture room. The rest of the facility was laboratories arranged in suites of 2-4 labs around each researcher's office, and there were four wings and four stories – over 30 empty lab facilities waiting to be filled.

So this year, when I had the opportunity to visit that molecular biology research lab, my first question was: did they add boards? Three-fourths of the labs are now occupied.

and question. Is there another way to interpret that graph? How could we discover the cause. How can we measure it? We attempt to train our students in questioning and analysis – an experience that until recently, Chinese students never had.

But Chinese students have come to the United States by the hundreds of thousands and have experienced that questioning in their masters and doctoral research here. Large numbers have now gone back to become the science professors in their new universities. And many are now standing with their students at those boards, markers in hand, figuring out the questions and methods to answer new problems. Because their students have three times the science content knowledge under their belts as American students, this bodes well for future science breakthroughs here. And to be really effective, introducing this second aspect of science – this questioning – needs to begin across China in their K-12 classrooms. And that has barely begun. But China is on the right track.

Meanwhile, back in the United States, no less than 10 states are now basing teacher evaluation on students' test scores. That is continuing the NCLB tyranny that forces teachers to replace open questioning, labs and field work with teach-to-the-test drill work. Along with our continued anemic coverage of science under the Next Generation non-standards, we are decimating our science education.

China is going the right direction. A direction many schools in America are abandoning.

The train, which can handle both kids and adults, will have a smoke stack – which will produce steam instead of smoke – and a whistle. Duell said they hope to have it by August.

- Examined the contracts to rent facilities such as the Topside Room at the Wolak Emergency Services Building. The commissioners added language to encourage people to do more to clean up the facilities after using them. For the Sherman County Fairgrounds, they added language saying that health certification is required for animals, especially swine, which is specified as having to be “safe for trade.”

Kansas State expert has tips on poison ivy

You may have heard the phrase “leaves of three, let it be” when it comes to detecting poison ivy. Kansas State University horticulturists say it is a bit more complicated than that.

“The leaves of poison ivy can have a smooth edge or a coarsely toothed edge, or even a lobed edge,” said Ward Upham, university extension agent in horticulture. “There are many different forms the leaves can take, so you need to look at other aspects of the plant.”

Poison ivy also grows in many different forms. You can find it covering the ground, in a shrub or climbing up a tree.

Charlie Barden, Kansas State University forestry extension specialist, says poison ivy is often confused with other plants like Virginia creeper, fragrant sumac and box elder. He says there are three key identifiers to look for if you want to avoid taking home an unwanted souvenir this summer.

- The middle leaf of the poison ivy plant is on a longer stem than the other two leaves.
- The two outside leaves are attached directly to the main stem.
- The branch holding the poison ivy is brown, not green.

More than 90 percent of people are allergic to poison ivy, and it often takes 10 to 12 hours before the symptoms show.

“A poison ivy rash is different from a bug bite because it will start out just being red and irritated and then blisters will actually raise up,” Barden said. “People say those blisters will spread and believe they are spreading the oil, but the spreading is just because it takes awhile for the reaction to occur.”

Remedies are available for this pesky plant. One lotion on the market that contains clay particles can be applied before you go into the woods and will prevent the poison ivy rash from occurring.

Getting rid of the plant on your property also is a preventative step. Upham says to consider grubbing, where you remove the plant from the ground after it has rained. He recommends using an herbicide containing Triclopyr, which will be labeled as a brush killer. If the poison ivy is climbing up a tree, cut down the tree, then apply the herbicide to the stump.

If you can’t get rid of the plant, it is best to avoid it altogether.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING AND PUBLIC COMMENT PERIOD CONCERNING NATURAL GAS SERVICE RATE INCREASE REQUEST

The Kansas Corporation Commission is holding a public hearing to allow Black Hills customers the opportunity to ask questions and make comments about Black Hills’ rate increase proposal. In its application, Black Hills said the increase was necessary because the company has continued to make investments in its system to provide safe, reliable, and efficient natural gas service to its customers. The Company further stated it has experienced increases in wages, medical expenses, and supplier costs.

The requested increase would only affect the portions of a customer’s bill that relate to the delivery of gas by Black Hills to customers, the fixed monthly “Customer Charge,” and the per Therm “Commodity Charge.”

The rate case does NOT involve the cost of gas that is collected through the Purchased Gas Adjustment (PGA). The cost to purchase natural gas supplies is not regulated and is subject to market forces such as supply and demand, storage volumes, and weather.

Black Hills’ last rate increase of $5.1 million was approved on May 16, 2007.

PUBLIC HEARING

The public hearing is scheduled for:

Thursday, July 10th, 2014 – Beginning at 6:00 p.m. Central Standard Time

Robert J. Dole Institute of Politics
University of Kansas
Simons Media Room
2350 Petefish Drive
Lawrence, KS 66045

Video conferencing technology will be used to allow Black Hills customers in other areas of the state an opportunity to observe the hearing and address the Commission. The locations for video conferencing are:

Eugene M. Hughes Metropolitan Complex
5015 E. 29th St. N.
Room 180 – Door N
Wichita, KS 67220

Lee Richardson Zoo
Finnup Center for Conservation
Baffa Lecture Hall
312 E. Finnup Drive
Garden City, KS 67846

Northwest Kansas Technical College (Begins at 5:00 p.m. Mountain Standard Time)
1209 Harrison Street
Room Studio A – Murray Building
Goodland, KS 67735

The public hearing will take place in two parts. First, a question and answer period will allow the public to ask Black Hills representatives and the Commission Staff questions pertaining to the proposal. In the second part of the hearing, the public will be allowed to make formal statements to members of the Commission or their designated representative.

Any persons requiring special accommodations at any of the hearing sites under the Americans with Disabilities Act need to give notice to the Commission at least 10 days prior to the scheduled hearing date by calling (785) 271-3140.

SUMMARY OF BLACK HILLS’ PROPOSAL

Total overall increase: 6.7% = $7.28 million

Residential customers:
Average monthly bill increase: 7.5%, which includes:
• Monthly Customer Charge increase from $16.00 to $21.70
• Average monthly bill increase: $4.17 per month (based on average bill of 711 therms per year)
• Decrease in Commodity Charge (per Therm) from $00.14524 to $00.14355

Commercial customers:
Average monthly bill increase: 9.9%, which includes:
• Monthly Customer Charge increase from $22.75 to $36.00
• Decrease in Commodity Charge (per Therm) from $00.14524 to $00.14355

NEW TARIFF PROPOSALS

As part of its application, Black Hills’ is also seeking approval of the following tariffs:

- (1) A rider to pass on revenues recovered from customers previously served by Anadarko who are at risk due to their ability to by pass the utility.
- (2) A rider to gradually increase revenues to cover the cost of five specific safety related projects.

- (4) Pension and Other Post Retirement Employee Benefits Trackers to defer and recover/refund in utility’s next rate case the difference between the utility’s actual costs and costs included in base rates.

PUBLIC COMMENT PERIOD

The Commission will also accept written comments from Black Hills customers through September 22nd, 2014. Comments regarding the case should reference Docket No. 14-BHCG-502-RTS and may be sent to the Kansas Corporation Commission, Office of Public Affairs and Consumer Protection, 1500 S.W. Arrowhead Road, Topeka, KS 66604, or emailed to public.affairs@kcc.ks.gov, or you may call 1-800-662-0027.

EVIDENTIARY HEARING

The Commission will conduct an evidentiary hearing on the Black Hills rate increase request November 12th - 17th, 2014, at 9:00 a.m. in the first floor hearing room at its Topeka office. At this hearing Commission Staff, Black Hills representatives, and Citizens’ Utility Ratepayer Board (CURB) will present their case to the Commission. The Commission must issue a decision by January 6th, 2015.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Black Hills’ corporate office is located in Rapid City, South Dakota. It provides electric and natural gas utility service to 762,000 customers in the Midwest. In Kansas, Black Hills provides natural gas service to approximately 111,000 customers.

The Kansas Corporation Commission regulates public utilities including home telephone, natural gas, electric and water companies, as well as motor carriers, oil and gas pipeline, and oil and gas producers. The Commission’s regulatory oversight of public utilities primarily pertains to rates and terms of service. In order to ensure that customers of regulated utilities are provided sufficient and efficient service at just and reasonable rates, utilities may not change their rates without Commission approval.

A complete copy of Black Hills’ application and supporting testimony is available on the Commission’s website at http://kcc.ks.gov, searching Docket Filings for Docket No. 14-BHCG-502-RTS. If you need additional assistance or more information about the requested rate increase or the public hearing, contact the Commission’s Office of Public Affairs and Consumer Protection at 1-800-662-0027, or public.affairs@kcc.ks.gov.

Website makes surplus property more accessible

A freshly minted website aims to help Kansas agencies, private organizations and individuals save money and time purchasing supplies and useful items.

If you need a musical instrument, a heart defibrillator, a desk, or a mini van, you might find exactly what you're looking for at the Kansas Department of Administration's Surplus Property outlet, for less than you might pay elsewhere.

And now, they're bringing it straight to your computer.

With the launch of the department's new website on April 2, the agency is now making an online catalog of surplus items available to the public, as well as promoting items available on its social media outlets.

The facility at which surplus items are housed is located in a warehouse in Topeka located just off I-70 and MacVicar at 2830 SW Kanza Drive. But the department has been trying for years to bring the surplus inventory to its customers through targeted emails. The new website will broaden the reach of the agency to promote its inventory to new customers, as well as to more efficiently communicate with regular purchasers.

Twitter and Facebook will allow the agency to reach out to new markets. Regular promotions of special offerings and featured items are planned to help familiarize other agencies and the public of what the department has available. The agency also plans to promote various sections of the surplus catalog on the site, such as listings for computers, furniture and vehicles.

The surplus section of the agency's website can be found under "Offices" on the site's homepage. At the surplus property homepage, shoppers can choose to view federal or state surplus sections. There is also an option to view vehicles available and to learn about upcoming public auctions.

"We save state agencies thousands of dollars a year by providing them things they need for a much lower price than they would have to pay elsewhere," said Office of Surplus Property Manager Keri Schuetz. "The website will help us reach more customers than ever before, which will save the state even more money."

Federal and state surplus are two separate programs with distinct rules governing who may purchase items.

Only state agencies and eligible non-profit organizations may purchase from the federal inventory. Unsold federal items go to public auction through the General Services Administration after one year. These items may be viewed on the website www.govsales.gov.

State surplus, however, is made available to the public after just one month at the facility.

"You have to familiarize yourself with how the different programs work, but once you do, an organization or agency will be able to find some real bargains," said Todd Fertig, director of public affairs. "And private businesses and individuals will be surprised what's available to them as well when it comes to state surplus."

The program has been honed over the years to anticipate what products will be most popular.

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
