Top readers get to ride in style

Reading is part of summer fun. The Norton Public Library sponsored a summer reading program with the incentive of new bicycles to the top readers.

The Friends of the Library provided bikes for the two older readers and a private donor supplied the bicycle to the winner of the "Read To Me" program for younger children.

Drew Ellis, 9, and a fourth grader at Eisenhower Elementary School won a bicycle for reading more than 20 books this summer.

Drew said, "My favorite book is the one I'm reading now, "Ella Enchanted". So far, it's pretty good."

He is the son of Scott and Darla Ellis, Norton.

Lexi Voss, 6, took home the other bicycle in the first through tenth-grade category.

Lexi was non-committal in her remarks about the books she read this summer, "I liked 'em all," she said.

The youngest winner was 2-year-old Cody Blair.

Cody's parents, Russell and Mindy Blair, Norton, enrolled their son in the "Read To Me" program and read at least 20 books to him over the summer.
