Boys State is a week-long government and leadership program. Delegates learn the workings of democracy on a city, county and state level.

"Meeting all the people was one of the highlights of the week," Justin said. "It was great to see how things worked and the interaction."

"I recommend Boys State to anyone," Nicholas agreed. "Especially if they are interested in politics. One of the first people I met was the kid who ran for governor. I helped get him elected and I got appointed to his cabinet."

Nicholas was a member of the City of Spigarelli in Powell County. He was general counsel. He was also a precinct committeeman and a party convention leader.

Justin was the Mayor of the City of Johnson, MacArthur County. He was voted "Outstanding Citizen of the City".

Both boys agreed that a talent show was a highlight of their week and that the closing ceremonies were impressive.

The Norton American Legion sponsored both young men.

Curt Archibald is the coordinator and Jay Shelton, the executive director for the program.

Nicholas is the son of Scott and Alice Evans and Justin is the son of Dr. Lamont and Pam Shirk, Norton.

Ashton Lofgreen, daughter of Dennie and Joyce Lofgreen, Norton, has been selected as the first recipient of the Thelma (VanDeWege) Dieleman scholarship for the 2004-05 school year. Miss Lofgreen is a freshman at Bethany College in Lindsborg.

HANSEN MUSEUM

By LEE FAVRE

Photography is not only an art, it can be a science as you will see by visiting the Clyde Butcher photography exhibit now showing in the Dane G. Hansen Museum gallery entitled, "Visions For the Next Millennium".

This collection of large matted black and white photographs depicts Butcher's love of the wilderness and his desire to preserve it.

"Wilderness to me, is a spiritual necessity," Mr. Butcher said. "Unless we perceive our connection to nature in a deep and personal way, we will face a future of decline instead of sustained prosperity."

He said he believes the motivating force of the future will be the health of our planet.

Mr. Butcher lives and works in the Big Cypress National Preserve in Florida and knows that the wilderness holds answers to many unasked questions.

Photographing the untouched areas, he had rediscovered the intimate beauty of nature and hopes his photography will inspire others to work together to save nature's places of spiritual sanctuary.

This exhibit contains 37 photographs of wilderness areas.

Mr. Butcher's photographs make us more aware of the beauty we may so easily take for granted.

Come marvel at these scenes captured on film and restore your spirit. This exhibit, brought to the museum from Smith Kramer Fine Arts Service, will be on display through Nov. 14.
