

WILSONVILLE

By VELMA HOLTZE

Gillian Sorensen and a friend from Long Beach, Calif., arrived in Wilsonville in time to accompany her mother, Barb and Tim Bacca and sister Rilee Park to Topeka on May 12. They met another sister, Wendee and Joel masters of Omaha. They went especially for the graduation of their sister-in-law, Carol Park, wife of Wade Park, who graduated with honors from Washburn University. Also attending the graduation was Wade's aunt and uncle, Carolyn and Jim Park.

Velma Holtze attended the Norton Telegram's annual correspondent's tea at Whitefield's Coffee House in mid-May. It was a time of renewing friendships and getting acquainted with some of the newer Telegram employees. They were sorry to learn that Liza Deines, one of the column writers, has had to move to an assisted living center near her son in Kansas City. It is great she will still be able to write her column which so many enjoy, reminiscing about things of years ago as well as learning many things about antiques and also some very different recipes which she has gathered as she and her husband ate as they traveled extensively.

Velma also visited a former neighbor, Elma Yunt, at the Norton County Hospital. Velma was surprised to learn that Wilma has been a patient at the hospital for over two months and will not be able to return to Whispering Pines Retirement Home which she has enjoyed so much. The Yunts farmed south of Wilsonville on the state line for many years.

Going to Blair, Neb., on May 14, for Tyler Wilson's high school graduation were his grandparents, Gordon and Ella Wilson and uncles, Allen Wilson and Burt and Laurie Jurey. Tyler is the son of Wally and Susan Elwood Wilson. Several of Susan's siblings also attended including Charlene Springer, Lebamon, Jody and Kenny Black, Danny and Judy Elwood and Mike and Jackie Elwood, Oberlin and some of their families.

The Arlen Wolfes of Holdrege have gone to Arizona for the eighth grade graduation of their granddaughter, Emily Wolfe. Emily moved a few years ago from Wilsonville to Arizona with her parents, Carl and Nancy Wolfe. She was chosen as one out of a very large class to speak at her graduation.

Kenneth and Carla Holtze attended a preschool graduation recently in Holdrege for Velma's great-grandson, Caden Erickson. Velma's daughter, Ivalene Simmons from Oshkosh was there also. Velma and Margene had gone to Kearney earlier and enjoyed lunch with Velma's granddaughter, Janene Holtze. They also enjoyed getting to see her college apartment.

Paul and Joan tenBensel's daughter, Julie and her four children from northeast Nebraska spent the weekend with them.

Dale Stanley accompanied his daughter Ellen and Kaylee Meissner of McCook to Omaha where Kaylee had to be admitted to the hospital. Dale is staying with her.

Brett Palmer began his new job training at Fairbanks International in Holdrege. He will be staying with his Aunt Cindy in Kearney until he starts classes at Central Community College in Hastings this fall.

Vic and Nancy Knutson and Nancy's father, Lawrence Orvis of McCook, attended graduation exercises in Norfolk for Nancy's niece, daughter of Larry Orvis.

Medicine Creek Days got off to a good start in Cambridge when many took advantage of the health fair. Others finished the day off with the music contest in the evening. There was a parade on Saturday with old cars, politician's campaign vehicles, business, organization and church entries, a couple of bands and the horses with 4-H riders. Entries from Wilsonville were the Baptist-Christian Church float and the horse riders from the Silver Spurs 4-H club led by Carla and Ella Rae tenBensel.

This correspondent felt that she got the royal treatment. She accompanied her grandson, Russell to Cambridge. Shortly after leaving the vehicle to walk to her granddaughter, Jolene's yard, she was met by a golf cart driven by Wayne Vontz who insisted she ride with him. Even better, he parked in a perfect place and insisted she remain seated.

Brant Marble came to visit his mother, Esther Marble, brother, Blaine and family and Harold Shearer on Friday afternoon. He got caught in the bad storm we had on Highway 60. Harold and Brant went to a sale Saturday morning at Long Island. Brant left Sunday afternoon for his home.

I called June Fisher to see how she was doing Monday evening after her car wreck. She says O.K., except she has a lot of colored bruises yet.

Betty Baker called me later Monday and she is going Tuesday morning to the Phelps Memorial Hospital in Holdrege, Neb., for hip surgery.

Lavina Ingram visited Esther Marble Monday afternoon.
