A Concert by Army Band

On July 21 at 7 p.m., the 312th Army Band will be in concert at the East Campus Auditorium. The concert is free to the public but there will be a free will donation for the Vietnam Moving Wall Memorial that will be in Norton in September.

The 312th United States Army Band was activated on Oct. 1, 1973 in Lawrence, as part of the 89th Army Reserve Command, headquartered in Wichita. Although not officially a descendant, the band unofficially was reorganized from the 89th Division Band that deployed during the campaign to reoccupy France during World War II. For a brief period in the early 1970's, the 32nd existed as the only all female band in the Army Reserve. In 1977, an aggressive recruiting campaign was undertaken for both male and female musicians.

The 312th Army Band has grown from those early years to its present roster made up of soldiers from about thirty different professions and academic studies. The band schedules 15 to 25 performances each year and has performed for the Kansas City Royals, the Kansas City Chiefs, the Oakland A's, the National Boy Scout Jamboree, the Kansas Music Educator's Association, the Texas Bandmaster's Association and the National Convention of the Association of the United States Army. The 312th was also named an official "Bicentennial of the United States Constitution" band and the state of Kansas named it an official "Eisenhower Centennial" band.

The 312th Band has performed hundreds of concerts throughout the country including Atlanta, Denver, Des Moines, Honolulu, Kansas City, New York, St. Louis, San Antonio, San Francisco and West Point among others.

The band features a marching band, concert band, rock band, jazz combo, brass ensemble, woodwind quintet and ceremonial detail.
