For the 43rd year out of the 47 years of the Daisy International/National BB Gun Championship Match, a teenage marksmanship team from Norton County will be among those from around the United States competing Monday and Tuesday, July 2-3 in Rogers, Ark., the home of Daisy Outdoor Products.

The Norton County team was originally sponsored by the Jaycees but in recent years the Norton Rotary Club has been the sponsor.

Norton's participation in the Safe Hunting and BB Gun Marksmanship Program goes all the way back to the start of the program based on the ideas recommended by the late Norton Jaycees member Duane Winder. His suggested format was adopted nationwide when Daisy and the U.S. Jaycees began the program.

A Norton County BB Gun Team has won the International/National Shoot eight times, more than any other community in the world!

Teams from such countries as Canada, England and Mexico were included in the competition but just recently the shoot was re-named National since teams from outside the U.S. no longer compete.

BB Gun marksmanship competition from the prone, sitting, kneeling and standing positions will be on the range in the John Q. Hammons Convention Center, where the teams are staying.

The shoot is still considered to be the largest junior marksmanship competition in the world.

Registration will begin on Saturday and continue on Sunday, along with equipment check. Practice will be allowed from 8 a.m. to 12 noon on Sunday. A coaches meeting will be at 3 p.m.

The Daisy Museum will be open all day on Sunday.

Daisy's 126th anniversary

Daisy is celebrating their 126th year in business this year. Founded in 1886 as a windmill manufacturer in Plymouth, Mich., Daisy started producing BB guns to be given to farmers when they purchased a windmill. The guns proved so popular that within a de-

Summer heat danger: how to protect yourself on the hot days

By Carleen Bell

With several days over 100 degrees and several more forecasted, the danger of heat-related illness is always a concern during the summer months.

There are steps that everyone can take, though, to avoid the danger of exposure to extreme summer weather.

Julie Siefers, a Physician's Assistant at Norton County Hospital, explained that the most important step to avoiding the heat is to simply stay inside with air conditioning whenever possible.

"Most people don't realize how hot it really is until they are out in it," Siefers said. "Because it is early in the summer, people aren't staying inside like they need to be."

Siefers recommended that anyone who needs to be outside for any reason do so during the early morning or late evening whenever possible.

While everyone should stay inside an air conditioned space whenever possible, anyone who doesn't have an air-conditioned home can help keep cool by placing a bowl of ice in front of a fan to help cool the air that is being circulated.

Siefers also explained that drinking plenty of fluids is essential to heat safety. The best drink is always water but caffeine and alcohol should be avoided in hot weather.

"Drinking water throughout the day is always better than all at once," Siefer said. "Continual hydration will help the body stay cool throughout the day."

The signs of heat-related illness, such as dehydration include hot skin, nausea, headache, lack of sweat, disorientation, dizziness and loss of consciousness.

Siefers recommended that anyone who may be suffering from heat-related distress or illness should get to a cool place immediately, out of the sun and drink as much fluid as possible.

Anyone who does need to be outside in extreme heat should wear colored clothing, sunscreen and a hat to avoid sun exposure. Sun exposure before 10 a.m. and after 4 p.m. is also less intense than during the mid-day, so sun exposure should be limited to the morning and evening whenever possible.

Update: City bans all fireworks

By Carleen Bell
cbell@nwkansas.com

In response to extreme heat and dry conditions in the area, Norton Mayor David Corns has declared a local disaster emergency and burn/fireworks ban within the city of Norton. The resolution parallels action of the Norton County Commission and other cities within the county to try to prevent fires.

According to the resolution, effective Thursday, all outdoor burning and shooting of fireworks is prohibited within the city limits. The ban on burning and fireworks will remain in effect until the area receives enough rainfall to reduce the risk of uncontrolled fires.

While the resolution bans open burning and fireworks, outdoor grilling is still permitted, but citizens are urged to use extreme caution and have immediate access to fire suppression tools, such as fire extinguishers.

In addition to the county-wide burning and fireworks ban, Toby Kuhn of Praire Dog State Park reported Thursday that all camp fires and fireworks have been banned within the state park. The Chamber of Commerce's public fireworks display was still planned as of Thursday, but Kuhn said park staff and local officials will continue to monitor the potential for fire hazards and evaluate whether or not the fireworks display should continue as planned.

Way too dry

In another example of how quickly a small fire can get out of control, several fire departments, including the Norton Rural department, responded to a grass fire north of Highway 9 just east of Logan Wednesday. The Phillips County Public Information office reports that the a page went out for a fire in Phillipsburg around 11:50 a.m. and all Phillips County fire departments responded, along with mutual aid from surrounding counties. As of 5 p.m. Wednesday, the fire was three miles wide and three to four miles north of Highway 9. By about 8:30 p.m., the fire was contained and the fire was contained in a 4-mile by 4-mile area. Some firefighters were treated for heat exposure and an old abandoned structure caught fire, but not other structure damage has been reported.
