

Poverty workshop will be Oct. 20

Court-Appointed Special Advocates of the 17th Judicial District, Inc. announced last week they will be hosting a conference/training entitled "A Framework for Understanding Poverty" by Ruby Payne.

The conference will be Saturday Oct. 20, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Huck Boyd Center in Phillipsburg and will be conducted by Smokey Hills Education Services. Lunch will be provided by Third Street Bakery in Phillipsburg. The conference is based on the popular Poverty Workshop as designed and conducted by Dr. Ruby Payne, CEO of Aha, Process, Inc.

"A Framework for Understanding Poverty" is open to anyone wishing to attend. Registration is $10 prior to Oct. 12, which will include a training book, the conference, and lunch. After Oct. 12, cost is $20. Space is limited and registrations are being taken on a first come, first serve basis.

Questions can be answered by calling (785) 345-4120 or Board President Tracie Ford at (785) 543-6412 or email casa17@ruraltel.net.

Registration for the conference can be done by sending a check for $10 prior to Oct. 12 or $20 after Oct. 12 to CASA, P.O. Box 160, Osborne, KS 67473. Make checks payable to CASA and please note Poverty Workshop in the memo space.

Students compete in Punt, Pass, Kick

Norton School students held the annual Punt Pass and Kick competition this fall. Participating in the competition were 134 students. The cumulative total of one punt, one pass and one kick determined the final scores. The following students placed in their respective categories.

Medical student trains at the county hospital

Josh Wyckstandt, an Oxford, Mich. native and a fourth-year medical student at the KU School of Medicine-Wichita, will receive hands-on, clinical training in Norton from Martin Griffy, D.O., at Norton County Hospital.

Wyckstandt will be in Norton Sept. 24 through Oct. 20.

The KU School of Medicine-Wichita Rural Preceptorship program exposes medical students to community-based medicine in rural Kansas communities, which is the most common kind of care across the state.

Solid business

With opening slated for the second week of November, the new Dairy Queen building on Highway 36 in Norton is progressing toward completion. Owner Jody Enfield reported Thursday that the current construction includes pouring concrete for the building's drive-thru lane and working on getting power to the new building. Enfield said the inside of the building is about 85 percent complete. The Dairy Queen/Orange Julius store operators are still looking for employees for the restaurant. Anyone interested in applying can pick up and return applications to the Norton City/County Economic Development office. Pictured, stone workers spent Saturday attaching decorative stone to the outside of the new building.

Group hears about parks, plans meeting

The Oberlin Chapter of the National Association of Federal Active and Retired Employees met at 4 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 16, at the Sappa Park shelterhouse near Oberlin with 18 members and guests present.

President Rob McFee conducted the business meeting. He and other officers, Keith Van Skike, vice president, and Annette Miller, secretary-treasurer, were re-elected.

Gary Anderson presented a very interesting program about Sappa Park. A hamburger cookout and socializing followed.

The next meeting will be held in Norton in November.

Members of the Oberlin chapter include active and retired federal employees of Norton, Decatur and Rawlins Counties.
