

Blue and Gold days

By DICK BOYD

nortontelegram@nwkans.com

The Norton Blue Jay Booster Club will host a "Blue and Gold Days" fundraiser at Jamboree Foods in Norton during the week of Monday, March 24 to Sunday, March 30.

Supporters of Blue Jay athletics and our student athletes will have the opportunity to add a donation to their grocery bill in increments of $1 or $5 to support the Blue Jay Booster Club.

All the money raised will be used to update equipment for our athletes.

Some of the items that have been purchased by the Booster Club in the past include tents for the track team, tennis court ball wall, cross country banner, television for the football team to watch film, DVD player for the Blue Jay bus, sound system for weight and wrestling room,

Prowler sled for the weight room and shirts for the cancer "pink out day" for the volleyball team plus our athletic teams always receive "goodie bags" from the Booster Club for post season play.

Norton Booster Club President Connie Miller can answer any questions about the fundraiser. Her cell phone number is 785-871-0824.

Pilot safety day offered

Representatives of both the government and the aviation industry in Kansas will talk to area pilots about aviation safety at a special presentation next month.

The Federal Aviation Administration Safety Team will put on "Super Safety Saturday," a set of presentations from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, April 5, at Colby's Shalz Field Municipal Airport. The event is about safety, but is open to anyone with an interest in aviation. A hot lunch will be provided.

The meeting will include discussions about aircraft ownership and maintenance, control-tower operations, automation and special-issuance licenses for pilots with minor medical problems.

Mark Ostmeier of MC Aviation Services, manager of the airport, will give one of the presentations. The other three speakers include two industry representatives, David DeWhirst, Michael Scheiman, and James Lamb, a member of the agency's safety team. Ostmeier said he especially would welcome anyone from the International Flying Farmers club, which has a convention in town that weekend.

This will be the first safety day here in several years, Ostmeier said, although he tried to have them every year in the past.

MC Aviation, Great Plains Spraying, CBK Flyers and Dilons are sponsors for the event.

your contributions. You have worked with great vision, skill, and commitment and we deeply appreciate your leadership in bringing about so many positive outcomes and noteworthy accomplishments.

"Thank you, Larry, for your exceptional service to rural America and to our Nation and best wishes for continued success."

In attendance at the reception in Larry's honor were also UnderSecretary of Agriculture Doug O'Brien, Deputy Administrator of RUS Jessica Zofolo and three former RUS Administrators.

Chris McLean, one of the former RUS Administrators, remarked, "Larry Sevier and Nextech are the poster child of what is right in rural America."

"We continually use them as an example of how to bring broadband and economic development to the remote parts of rural America."

"Larry Sevier epitomizes the true Rural American, one who has a passion for helping others and he did so through the use of his experience with the REA and RUS," said Hilda Legg, another of the former RUS Administrators present to honor Larry.

"I spent many hours with Larry, both as a borrower, a Rural Telephone Bank Board member and ultimately as one of my most trusted advisors."

"Even after leaving the RUS, when baffled by a policy dilemma facing rural broadband providers, I would call Larry and he would give hours of his time, helping me understand and work through the situation. Always a giver, Larry, I wish you a long, fun filled retirement because you truly have earned it!"

istrator present, Jim Andrew, had this to say about Larry, "He came into my time at RUS early on. We were involved in broadband regulations and his counsel was very important. It was actually irreplaceable."

"So many things to say about Larry. So much is in past tense, a mere acknowledgment for what he has done and his contributions to helping RUS deliver its mission. We hope he enjoys his retirement."

Tragedy strikes...

The fire at the home at 602 North Second Street in Norton, owned by Gerald Spear, received a lot of attention from community members. Fire Chief Mitch Jones thanked the community for coming together; Subway and Loves for food and drinks, the city and county for equipment to contain and clean up the debris, local law enforcement for providing a safe and secure area to perform the firemen's job, city electricians and Midwest Energy along with wives of the fire fighters and mostly for the firemen who did such a great job in containing the fire and kept it from spreading. Thankfully there was no loss of life and no injuries reported in this fire.

LYLE NEWS

By Veda Wood

Toots Magers' company on Sunday were Judy and Charlie Easton, Jane Engelhardt and Pam and Mike Hornung of Denver, Colo. She attended the benefit for Doug Gallentine held at the American Legion Building in Norton, and said she had never seen a larger crowd there. Doug is taking chemotherapy for cancer.

Teresa Wood called Sunday evening and is on her way home from Kearney, Neb. She has to take clothes back for Dwight, and may bring him home Tuesday. They will make an appointment with a specialist in Omaha, Neb., and he will have someone with him all the time until then.

Sandra McNames heads the Quiz Bowl program at her school in Palco. Their school took second in Regionals and went to the State tournament last week.

What would you say if someone told you you had the worst looking legs they had ever seen. Well, I'd better explain--it was only one leg, and to be truthful, only one knee. I am going to physical therapy and I'm sure it's helping.

The Liberty Star Club met at my home last Wednesday, with eight members and two guests.

Cathy Anthony had dropped out while she was working and taking Gary to McCook, Neb., for dialysis, but now that she has retired, we are very hopeful she can be a member again. Also, Linda Jurey, who brought her mother, Joyce Price, hopefully will join.

June Jolly has one more row of blocks to go on her quilt. She played cards Monday and Friday, then went to Norton for Bingo Sunday evening. Her family is on the countdown for a new baby between now and the first part of April.
