David Bailey

David Bailey joined the U.S. Navy on Aug. 29, 2000. He has been stationed in Yokosuka, Japan, since April 21, 2001.

Bailey is a welder, pipe fitter and firefighter aboard the aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk, the oldest active war ship in the fleet. He has the rank and job title of hull maintenance technician third class petty officer. The ship has been deployed to the Persian Gulf.

"You can hate the war, but don't hate the people fighting in it; we are just doing our job and protecting our friends and families, both here with us and back home in the states," Bailey wrote in an e-mail to his aunt and uncle, Sandy and Scott Zeigler of Oberlin.

From September to December 2001 he served in Operation Enduring Freedom and from January through March of this year is Operation Southern Watch. He is now serving in Operation Iraqi Freedom.

He has been awarded the meritorious unit commendation, armed forces expeditionary award and the national defense award for his service in Operation Enduring Freedom.

Bailey is the son of Doug Bailey and the late Linda Bailey. His grandparents are William and Joyce Pedersen of McDonald and Mabel Bailey of Oberlin.
