» The best care for your heart is at Good Samaritan Hospital...

within reach.

Claire Boroff's doctor told him he needed quadruple bypass surgery as soon as possible and he didn't hesitate to choose Good Samaritan Hospital. "I never thought of going anywhere else," he said. Thousands of heart procedures are performed every year at Good Samaritan. We also far exceed the national average in treating heart attack patients within the precious 90-minute time frame. Those are two good reasons why Good Samaritan recently received advanced re-accreditation as a Chest Pain Center. At Good Samaritan Hospital, care for the heart, from the heart is always...within reach.
