By the Norcatour News Committee

A community benefit of ham and beans with cornbread and a dessert will be held at the Norcatour City Building for Louis Anderson on Saturday, Nov. 27. Serving time will be 5 to 7 p.m. with a free will donation to help pay their Decatur County ambulance bills. It is sponsored by the Norcatour Royal Neighbors of America, assisted by the Norcatour News Volunteers.

Results of the pool tournament at the Cardinal Bar & Grill Wednesday, Oct. 27, were: Don Relaford, first; Von Johnson, second.

Bob and Anita Montgomery and Ron Montgomery went to Curtis, Neb., Oct. 11, 14 and 23, to watch Alyssa Montgomery play volleyball and for Parents Day. Won some-lost some. The 23 was parent's day and the last game of the season. Alyssa is standing 10th in the nation for service aces.

Bob and Anita Montgomery joined the Frakes family in Morland on Oct. 23 for the second birthday celebration for Jay Frakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Miller left on Nov. 4 for El Dorado where they visited and spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Casey Tuttle, then went on to Topeka on Friday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Curt DeDonder and Sophia. They toured the Mulvane Art Center at Washburn University on Saturday and returned home on Nov. 8.

Happy Birthday to Amy Wentz, Howard Sumner, Mary Leslie, Nov. 12; Rea Magers, Nov. 14; Paul Lange, Nov. 15.

Happy Anniversaries to Ronald and Jerry Temple, Nov. 12.

Dave and Patty Stapp went to Erie on Nov. 5 to spend the weekend with Jerrod and Kortney Poire and Kyleigh. Dan and Debbie Poire, Colony, were visitors Saturday night at their home.

Bonnie Yule and her daughter, Karen Mason, Amarillo, Texas, visited Rea and Dee Magers on Nov. 2. They have been friends for 50 years plus, as their friendship started in Denver as neighbors. The Yules returned home on Thursday, Nov. 4.

One of our newly purchased books at the Norcatour Library is Lou's Dirty Dozen by Ranny Grady. This is a story that was written about his mother, Lou, who was a widow with a dozen children during the Great Depression and the Dust Bowl years who used the Bible, dictionary, McGuffey's Readers and ingenuity to create her own form of "spiritual" baling wire.

Museum Tidbits

The Nocatour Museum would like to thank Derrick Bolliger and Linda Bolliger Broyles for donating Rex Lee Bolliger's class ring. He graduated from Norcatour High School in 1954. We really appreciate you thinking of our Museum to display this.

Put a potato in your pot

Have you ever wondered what kinds of potatoes are best for boiling, mashing, frying and baking?

Potatoes are versatile creatures, aren't they? They can be cooked just about any way you can think of, and they complement almost any meal.

There are more than 200 kinds of potatoes. Although you won't find all of those varieties at your supermarket, it's easy to get confused about the different sorts of potatoes that are available.

Potatoes may fall into one of two categories, "waxy" or "mealy" or somewhere in between. Those terms hardly make the mouth water, but they do offer a good way to discern which potatoes are best for different uses.

"Mealy" potatoes have more dry starch within their cells, which tend to puff up and separate from each other when cooked. That makes the potato fluffier when cooked -- a good thing for baking and mashing. It also makes the potato drier, which is OK, because you generally moisten baked and mashed potatoes with butter, milk or other moisteners. This type is also good for frying potatoes □ think of the fluffy interior of a thick-cut french fry. The Russet potato, the most popular potato by far in the U.S., is the classic "mealy" potato.

Instead of separating when cooked, the cells in "waxy" potatoes stick together. That's good news when you want a potato to hold its shape after cooking, as you would want for potato salads, boiled potatoes or scalloped potatoes. New potatoes (which are really just young potatoes of any variety), red-skinned potatoes and fingerlings are common varieties of waxy potatoes.

Still other potatoes fall in between mealy and waxy. These all-purpose potatoes have a medium starch content and can be used for just about all purposes. Round and long white-skinned potatoes are usually classified as "all purpose."

Potatoes, particularly those that aren't fried or laden with high-fat trimmings, can be a nutritious component of the diet. They are high in vitamin C and a good source of potassium and vitamin B6. But be careful -- they're so well-loved that it's easy to go overboard on them. A small- to medium-sized baked potato, about 5.25 ounces, is plenty for one serving.

If you have questions about potatoes or other vegetables, please feel free to contact your local K-State Research and Extension Office. You may also e-mail.

Herndon News

By Julie Hafner

On Thursday evening, Jacob, Tara and Kade Marintzer came for a long weekend visit with Greg, Rita and Joe Marintzer. Kris Marintzer and Jason Krum of Kansas City also came to stay with Justin and Lori Marintzer. All the guys went pheasant hunting. Kade went trick or treating and scared all the relatives. All left for home Sunday afternoon

Justin and Jennifer Davis went to Denver for the weekend to spend time with classmates from high school. They attended the Iowa State-Colorado game on Saturday and the Bronco-Chief game on Sunday. They all enjoyed the time together.

Dale Martin of the Martin Bluegrass Family Band of Jefferson City, Mo., spent the weekend with Brad and Deanna Williams and family. The generous soul who dropped the million dollar bill in the free-will offering basket for the St. Mary's Fall Festival dinner can retrieve it from this correspondent at their discretion. I am sure you meant for it to be a $10 donation but with the excitement of hunting and the aroma of the wonderful roast turkey dinner we can certainly understand the mistake.

Congratulations are extended to Benjamin Grafel and Mariah Jones Grafel on their wedding, which took place Saturday, Nov. 13, at the Historical Church in Atwood. May they have many happy years together.

Voni Sattler, Herndon; Nancy Matson, Indianola, Neb., and Bill and Bob Matson, McCook, traveled to Goldsboro, N.C., for the funeral of Neil R. Anthony, husband of Dixie Matson Anthony. Others attending were Melodie Sattler, Denver;

Daniel Sattler, Wellington, Colo.; Patty Park, Hays; Kathy Leitner, Atwood, and Deanna Williams, Herndon. Funeral services were Monday, Nov. 8 at the Grace Baptist Church of Goldsboro.

St. Mary's Fall Festival on Sunday was a huge success with families, hunters and supporters enjoying a roast turkey and ham dinner, cake walk and fun games conducted by the Parish Council and the CYO St. Mary's members.

Prize winners were $500 first prize, Rita Marintzer, Herndon; $250 second prize, John Marintzer, Northglenn, Colo.; $150 third prize, Jane Brubaker, Bird City; $100 fourth prize, Michelle Hartner, Herndon; $50 Savings Bond, Pam Anderson, Oberlin.

A very Happy Thanksgiving to All!

Selden News

Kudos to Helen Carman, who gave assistance when a cat had a can stuck on his head. Jacque Boultinhouse covered the cat with her coat and held it tight so it would not scratch either of them and Helen wiggled the can back and forth until it came off. At that point, the cat had a very good view of what was going on and wanted nothing to do with either of the women and that cat slipped out of her coat and was gone in a flash.

The Business to Business Tour was held Sunday with 14 business participating. A couple of people learned where you can buy a spool of sewing thread in Oberlin. Norma's Country Quilting and Keepsakes offers many, many bolts of fabric and spools of thread for your sewing and quilting needs.

For those who want to learn to crochet in a cozy atmosphere, with the coffee pot on, check out Homefires Others didn't know there was a "Carman Computer Service" on S. Waldo Street where you can buy most all your computer needs. Dick Carman, owner, has a nice selection of new computers, plus many used ones. He has sold 150 units in the past couple of years.

Another comment was "a blue toolbox?" You'll have to check out the nifty Christmas tree for men at Stanley Hardware in his men's section.

Going on down the street we learned that Barb at Coffee, Tea and Me is now serving pancakes and waffles on Saturday mornings for breakfast.

At the LandMark Inn, Gary is offering a chance to win a $250 Shopping Spree with a $10 purchase.

The Parlor is a nice addition to the Museum. Even though it is closed for the season, you will find the employees there working several days a week, so stop in and see what they are up to in preparing for the next season.

Don't be scared of the tall cowboy that greets you around the corner from the front door!

Moving on up the street, we stopped at Home Planning Center, where I heard a comment from one of the gentlemen in our group to be sure and check out all the stocking stuffers as his wife was going in the door. There were many for her to choose from.

Don't forget to check out the downstairs. At R & M Service Center, I heard someone talking about the elk they had cooked. Of course, most anything would be good when cooked on a Traeger Grill.

Check out all the other household appliances available while you're shopping.

Also along the east side of the street, we also checked out The Dresser which offers many new fall items with new designs, and Ward Drug Store with its many holiday gift items.

All around the store were unique displays of gift items, glassware, wedding gift items, medical needs, and the beautiful card display, and the candy section.

So, as you are shopping this season, don't forget where you can find a spool of thread in Oberlin. Along the way, see if you can find a "several-shades-of-brown candle," which was made in Vietnam, or "Floosie Coozies".

Please remember to attend the high school musical, "Wizard of Oz" on Friday and Saturday evening, the Light Parade on Friday, Nov. 26, and the Holiday Craft Show on Saturday, Nov. 27.

Have a great week!!

Today's Challenge

By Pastor Royce Leitner, First Assembly God Oberlin

This present world is being shaken at its foundation. All the markets seem to be trembling at there monetary roots

The world doesn't realize it's wrong the way it behaves and conducts itself.

The world is being called to God by the Good News of the gospel, that it must repent.

The last day church is being challenged in a very difficult time. People want God but not necessarily the gospel.

The scriptures remind us in Galatians 6:7: Don't be misled. Remember that you can't ignore God and get away with it. You will always reap what you sow! 8. Those who live only to satisfy their own sinful desires will harvest the consequences of decay and death. But those who live to please the spirit will harvest everlasting life from the spirit. 9. So don't get tired of doing what is good. Don't get discouraged and give up, for we will reap a harvest of blessing at the appropriate time (New Living Translation).
